

SMARTPHONE

Director: Manik Roy

Group: Guwahati SishuNatyaVidyalaya, Guwahati

Language: Hindi

Duration: 1 hr 3 mins

About the Group

Guwahati SishuNatyaVidyalaya, established in 1998, is continuously working for the development of children's theatre. Apart from providing training on acting, we are involved in other children's activities with the focus on the overall development of a child's personality. Keeping our vision ahead, the various activities that we undertake in GSNV, Guwahati are - acting classes for children and teenagers, two yearly workshops on theatre, a minimum of two new productions every year, participation in various national theatre festivals, organizing National Children Theatre Festival every year, publishing a souvenir annually, organizing seminars on children's theatre and various current issues concerning children's rights etc.

About the Play

With this play we wish to bring to light two degenerative factors of today's generation - smartphone and fast-food. Traditional food and beverages filled with healthy nutrition are becoming alien for modern children. They are becoming dependent on smartphones and hardly play outdoor games; as a result of which the body-structure of the coming generations may get deformed in the process of evolution i.e. the head may probably become larger as the brain is used much more than other organs of the body. This short play is an attempt to create awareness that for a fit and healthy body and brain, nutritious foods, outdoor games and exercises are exceedingly necessary.